GRANITE CITY — A new flavored drink product will mean 60 to 70 new jobs at The Nestle Co. Inc., 2101 Adams St. Seven hundred people have applied for the jobs, which were not advertised.

Illinois Job Service at 7 American Village Shopping Center accepted applications for production workers Monday through Wednesday, according to Mark Crisman, Illinois Job Service employer relations representative.

NOTIFICATION of the jobs was made through telephone calls and a note on the bulletin board at the Nestle plant, he said.

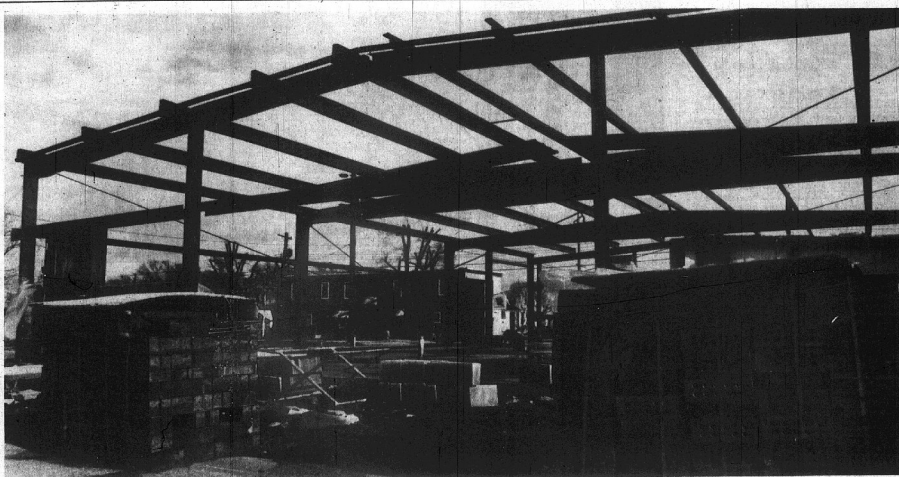

A "fair percentage" of the applicants were unemployed, but many were employed workers "seeking to better themselves," Crisman said.

The applicants came from Madison and St. Clair counties and elsewhere, he said.

PLANT OFFICIALS will now screen and interview applicants, Crisman said.

Nestle will begin producing the new powdered instant drink the first or second week of December, Plant Manager Roger Higgins said. The product will be introduced in February or March, he said, declining to describe the product until marketing begins.

The Nestle plant in Granite City is the world's largest instant-tea plant, Higgins said.

Granite City becoming computerized

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

GRANITE CITY — City services are being computerized. Council members approved the purchase of a $165,000 Burroughs 1990 SP at last week's meeting.

CITY COMPTROLLER Joe Micklovic said he hopes to increase the efficiency of service to residents, with the computerization of several functions.

In the works is a plan that would allow residents to purchase their city stickers through the mail, instead of having to go to City Hall.

Residents would be mailed a notice and they could purchase the sticker by mailing back a check.

THE COMPUTER will also allow the city to handle the sewer department's quarterly billing, which is currently done by a Granite City bank for a $7,000 yearly fee.

Persons seeking a city document through the Freedom of Information Act may find their task easier when the ordinances are placed in the computer.

Micklovic said the ordinances may be keyed in under subheadings, which will provide easy access to the documents.

OTHER CITY SERVICES which will become a push of the button include business licenses, utility billing and fixed asset accounting.

Micklovic said the new computer is due to arrive on Dec. 2.

The currently has an NCR computer that has become outdated for city use. That computer will be put out for bids, Micklovic said.

Ice blamed for wrecks

GRANITE CITY — Icy pavement in the southbound lanes on the Illinois Route 3 (Chicago Avenue) viaduct resulted in five accidents Friday morning.

But only two persons suffered slight injuries in the mishaps.

CITY POLICE officers responding to the scene said the intersection of Niedringhaus Avenue and Route 3 was similar to an "ice rink."

Motorists who were attempting to slow down for accidents in the area found themselves becoming involved in a collision, officers said.

The viaduct slopes down sharply as the northbound highway area nears Niedringhaus and the St. Louis Area Support Center entrance.

THE FIRST accident occurred when the car of Alan E. Crawford, 35, of Alton skidded out of control on slippery pavement in southbound lanes, struck the concrete median and then circled around, facing oncoming traffic.

Johnnie Clemmons, 59, of St. Louis told police he could not avoid colliding with Crawford.

Moments later, Jake L. Hayes, 55, of 2929 Denver St., observed the accident in front of his vehicle and slowed down.

A VAN DRIVEN by Glen Simpson, 46, of St. Louis collided with Hayes' vehicle when he also tried to slow down but went into a skid.

The third accident happened when a car driven by Dennis R. King, 34, of St. Louis started sliding on the ice and collided with a car driven by Vivian A. Turner, 28, of 1221 Logan St., Madison.

After striking Turner's car, King's car slid the opposite way, crossing the road median and nearly colliding with a Madison patrol car.

SHORTLY AFTERWARD, two persons were injured when two cars tried to avoid the pileup on Route 3.

Rhonda A. Jackson, 31, of East St. Louis and a passenger in her car, Bernard Mitchell of Centerville, received minor injuries when their auto was hit by a car driven by Mark L. Vehewald, 22, of Cahokia. Vehewald told police Jackson's car started slowing down and his car slid against the rear of her car.

A fifth accident at the intersection occurred when Dawn R. Parizon, 20, of 1716 Spruce St. attempted to change lanes and was driving on the viaduct. Parizon's car hit the concrete safety rail but she was uninjured.

A SHORT TIME after the fifth accident, a car driven by a driver who was not identified, was involved in a collision with a car driven by a driver who was not identified.

Youngsters discuss Thanksgiving's meaning

EDITOR'S NOTE: Third graders from Granite City schools were asked to share with us "what Thanksgiving means to me." The following is a sampling of the comments received. Teachers provided us with more essays than we could use, but the following represent a good sample. From the employees of this publication to all of you, have a safe and happy holiday.

PARKVIEW SCHOOL
Thanksgiving is a special day. It is when your family meets and eats a hamburger. Oops! I mean eat Turkey and Mashed Potatoes, Pickles, a Muffin, and Pumpkin Pie! It is also when your friends say "Thanksgiving is here!" Also you get cards, and when you get to pick the Turkey! Happy Thanksgiving!

Thanksgiving reminds me of the Pilgrims and Indians. The Indians showed the Pilgrims how to plant corn and a lot of stuff. They were great friends. They had fun together. They shot deer and buffalo and a whole lot of stuff. They had a feast and it went on for three days. They had a wonderful time.

Thanksgiving is a time when the family gets together and has turkey. They think of all the things that they are thankful for. At Thanksgiving we celebrate how pilgrims and Indians made friends. On Thanksgiving in our family everybody comes to our house and we celebrate, we have turkey, cranberries, mashed potatoes with butter, corn, stuffing, and ctn. Sometimes, after we are done eating

I'm thankful that I can have my Grandma's Thanksgiving dinner. It's the best dinner ever and we have all this stuff, like turkey, gravy, mashed potatoes, homemade noodles, dressing, cranberries, salad, rolls and dessert. I love my family too — my mom, Laura, my Dad, Carl, my sister, Jessica, and I can't forget me, Heather! I also love and am thankful for the rest of my relatives.

Thanksgiving means to me that I am thankful for all that I have. Some of the most important things I am thankful for are clothes, shelter, food, family, and friends. I am thankful that we live in the United States where we are free.

Thanksgiving was first celebrated in 1600 when the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock and met the Indians. They had a big feast. That was the first Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving means celebrating like the Pilgrims first celebrated it, by getting together with my family and friends.

Thanksgiving means thanking God for parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, babies. We eat turkey, dressing, cranberries. We think about long ago when the Indians lived and when the Pilgrims sailed on the Mayflower. I think Thanksgiving is my favorite holiday!

I like Thanksgiving it is a fun Hol-

I like to go to my Grandma Ruth on Thanksgiving Day and she has turkey and she has potato salad and pumpkin pie. I see some time my aunt Darle on Thanksgiving and I see my cousin Danny too on Thanksgiving. Pilgrims came on the ship to where the Indians and the In-

I like Thanksgiving. We are thankful for Thanksgiving. I want the Thanksgiving to be good. I love Grandma and Grandpa and Mom and Daddy. I like pumpkin pie. Indians are nice to the American people. We had Indians here a long time ago. I will be home on Thanksgiving.

FB in action

WASHINGTON — The FBI, in a curious bit of timing, declared earlier this year to shut down a program that had encouraged Vietnamese spies in this country to defect. The FBI declined to comment on the counterintelligence operation, which had been in existence for about two years.

The program, code-named "Chu Hoi II," had been "fairly successful," a source told our associates Donald Goldberg and Corky Johnson. Advertisements in the Vietnamese-language press and cards handed out on the street gave instructions for contacting the FBI, and promised protection against Hanoi's revenge for spies who came in from the cold.

There's no indication that the violence in the Vietnamese community caused directly or indirectly by Hanoi has diminished to the point where communist agents need no longer be feared. Quite the contrary.

Last May, on the very day we reported on the widespread use of extortion by Hanoi to extract money from Vietnamese refugees in this country, gunmen shot a Vietnamese couple in San Francisco who had been involved in currency deals masterminded by Hanoi.

The husband survived; the wife died. In her will, she left an estimated $250,000 to the Vietnamese government.

According to our sources, the couple had been working with a Vietnamese businessman in San Diego who was funneling American dollars to Hanoi in exchange for gold. But the currency was discovered to be counterfeit, and a hit man was sent to San Diego, where he decapitated the businessman.

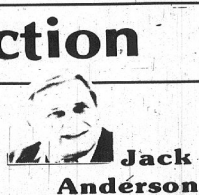

An associate of the slain businessman blamed his death on the San Francisco couple; they were subsequently shot.

Not all of the growing violence in Vietnamese refugee communities is traceable to Hanoi. Anti-communist militant groups have also caused bloodshed as they try to discourage friendly relations between Hanoi and Washington.

One group, for example, which calls itself grandly the Vietnamese Organization to Exterminate Communists and Restore the Nation, has been linked to a series of shootings. It claimed responsibility for the murder of another San Francisco Vietnamese couple, who had been friendly with an American professor suspected of supplying computer equipment illegally to Hanoi.

The professor, who had advocated normalization of U.S.-Vietnamese relations, was later killed himself by a Vietnamese refugee. But the killer claimed the shooting was accidental.

vice. But due to an oversight by the janitorial contractor, many Cameron Station bathrooms were recently without toilet tissue or paper towels for a full 24 hours. An employee finally bought the required supplies from a self-service store on the base.

IRANIAN EXCEPTION: Not all the ayatollahs in Iran are as crazy as Khomeini. Take, for example, Hassan Qoml-Tabatabai, senior ayatollah in Iran's second-holiest city, Mashad. In a decree issued earlier this year, he announced Iran's declared "holy war" against Iraq as "haram," or religiously unlawful. He explained: "Confusion in this war is between two groups of Moslems, injuring and mutilating one another. Large sums of money are wasted. Towns and villages are destroyed. Women are widowed and children orphaned."

EYE ON THE ECONOMY: Has the Great Infrastructure Crisis been resolved? A few years ago, the nation's newspapers were full of headlines about crumbling bridges, highways and sewers. Now, there are few such stories. The answer is that the crisis has been forgotten but not gone. Exports estimate there is now a $400 billion gap between the funds available and the amount needed to repair roads, bridges and sewerage.

NOW YOU KNOW: An American congressman was astonished recently when Imelda Marcos, wife of Philippine president Ferdinand Marcos, showed up for a meeting with an attaché case. She pulled out a note pad and proceeded to sketch a map of the world, with the Philippines at the center. Mrs. Marcos then informed the congressman that her friend, former President Richard Nixon, once confided to her the real reason the United States went to war in Vietnam: to protect the Philippines.

UNDER THE DOME: During the past two years, Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., spent $60 in leftover campaign funds on tickets to Washington Redskins home games. Constituents who show up at the right time use the tickets. Staff members also go to after office hours — but they have to pay, with the money going back into the campaign fund. Using campaign funds for such purposes is illegal, but Simpson's office denies the charges.

SINCE THE PURCHENKO AFFAIR, THAT'S TAKEN ON A WHOLE NEW MEANING...

Teacher talks about NASA

Excitement was mounting. It was over a month since NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) had sent its initial invitation. It was to be one of 250 teacher-in-space candidates to view first-hand the launching of space shuttle 61-A and to attend the Aerospace Education Conference in conjunction with the launching.

On our first night, we met the candidates at a reception arranged by NASA. Unofficially, Illinois was said to have the most representation.

Our first full day was spent with special briefings and a tour of the Kennedy Space Center. On previous visits, TWA had provided enjoyable tours of the center and Cape Canaveral area. But nothing was as thorough as the excursion provided by NASA.

Historic missiles and space memorabilia, group commands, the assembly building and 61-A on its launch pad were viewed at close range.

The entire next day was spent at the hotel, where we continued to be briefed on many of the topics covered in the arrival literature. These seven sessions were presented by top authorities in the field.

Alan Ludwig, Teacher in Space project director, gave a detailed account of how the project came into being. Robert Forster, one of the 10 finalists, described training he and the others had undergone. One skill requires the participant to train in a personal rescue enclosure apparatus — a device measuring 34 inches in diameter. It contains life-support and communications gear; each is designed to protect one person.

Shouts of approval, clapping and whistling filled the area as a huge puff of smoke and a tremendous vibration sent the shuttle aloft. The boosters burned for a little more than two minutes and then parachuted slowly down to the Atlantic Ocean, where recovery ships were waiting to retrieve the spent casings.

The orbiter's main engines continued to burn until we could no longer see anything but a white streak. After about five minutes into space, we heard, "Negative return," the Challenger was now committed to orbiting the Earth.

During those five minutes, the astronauts were already over Spain. They would orbit once every 90 minutes for the next seven days. They would be all the way around the world before I could ride back to the airport.

Feds to share forfeited property

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984, signed into law by President Reagan, contains provisions authorizing the attorney general of the United States or a designated state or local law enforcement agency to implement or share forfeited property with participating state or local law enforcement agencies.

Prior to passage of this act, the federal government could not share forfeited property with other nonfederal law enforcement entities.

The intent of this new legislation is to enhance cooperation between federal, state and local law enforcement agencies, especially in drug investigations, where most forfeitures occur. The attorney general and I have fully supported efforts to implement the sharing provisions of the act.

Drug dealers view apprehension and conviction as a "cost of doing business," because the huge profits generated by this traffic provide an overwhelming incentive to those who ignore the social costs.

But, by depriving those in this business of the profit, law enforcement can remove the primary incentive, plus provide law enforcement with additional resources to combat this illegal activity.

Procedures have been established by the attorney general for state and local law enforcement authorities to follow in requesting a share of property seized under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 or the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act.

Seized property or proceeds from its sale can be equitably transferred to state or local law enforcement agencies which directly participated in the actions that led to seizure or forfeiture of the property.

To aid in requesting a share of such property, a U.S. Department of Justice form, "Application for Transfer of Federally Forfeited Property" (DAG-71), is now available from any of the local or regional offices of the FBI, DEA or INS.

Imports not serious threat, poll says

To the Editor:
A Los Angeles Times poll shows Americans are deeply concerned about the impact of imports on U.S. jobs. Most in Congress want to "do something" to restrict imports.

Most in the U.S. now see foreign trade as a threat rather than a mighty engine of economic growth. They say our workers can't compete against cheap foreign labor, and they paid less than one-tenth of our wages.

But the U.S. has created millions of service industry jobs in the past three years. We've had no more loss of manufacturing jobs than other developed economies. Every major industrial nation except Japan has seen such losses decrease.

Third World nations generally suffer from poor industrial efficiency and government meddling. As a result, their export costs are often no lower than ours.

The threat posed by imports is more than offset by the big economic benefits of free trade. But if Americans continue to fear the consequences of trade, these benefits may be lost.

The best and worst of summits summarized

It is the summit season for political potentates. Everybody seems to be getting into the act, so I figured I'd hop on the bandwagon.

The following are my picks for the best and the worst of the summits during the last 10 days.

Let's start with the best. Speaking as one Irish-American, I'm overjoyed Irish Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald and Thatcher Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher have come to agreement on the Irish-Anglo accord.

The agreement gives the Irish government an official voice in the running of Northern Ireland for the first time.

In return, the FitzGerald government agreed to recognize Ulster Protestants' desire to remain under Britain's wing.

The agreement will lead to establishment of an Irish-Anglo body known as the Intergovernmental Conference. The conference will aid the transfer of power from the British government to the elected

Bill Milligan

Northern Ireland Assembly.

It's a move that was long overdue. It's a first step toward eliminating the Irish Republican Army and the Ulster Defense League.

Irish-Americans can do their part to help the peace process by refusing to donate to organizations that fund money for the conflict back home.

Meanwhile, back at the Super Bowl of summits, President Ronald Reagan and Kremlin boss Mikhail Gorbachev were at the center of much ado about apparently nothing. Like most Super Bowls, the Reagan-Gorbachev summit seemed anti-climactic after weeks of build-up and hype.

Pre-summit hype made it seem accord on future use of nuclear weapons was just around the corner.

Now, it looks like the only agreement was to meet again. That was probably arranged prior to the summit.

Like all Super Bowls, people expect to see a clear winner emerge. My feeling is the Soviets won.

Freedom of the press is one of the things that makes this country a better place to live. Nevertheless, Reagan agreed to a news blackout at the start of the talks.

I was expecting our president to give up a nuclear weapon or two, but I don't think he would so easily surrender one of our inalienable rights.

Many feel it was necessary in order to expedite the talks. Some say it's impossible to negotiate with the press looking over your shoulder. On the other hand, we might all be better off if we knew more about what they talked about.

Either way, the American people get the news their government feeds them. It was a new experience for Americans.

Maybe Gorbachev never saw "Death Valley Days."

Am I imagining things, or did I see "Globe-Democrat" Publisher Jeffrey Gluck on "60 Minutes" last Sunday? A person who looked and sounded like Gluck was interviewed by Harry Reasoner after dropping out of a mercenary training school.

Whoever it was, the program did not identify him.

After talking with Granite City Coordinator Al Orbital two weeks ago I thought I might give up journalism and begin rehabilitating houses.

In the Nov. 17 issue, an article I did on Orbital said he bought a house for $8,200 and sold it two years later for $78,000. That was generous, but not true. Actually, he sold his house in 1978 for $22,000.

State's attorneys ignoring Freedom of Information Act

The Freedom of Information Act is ignored by the state's chief law enforcement officials, according to the October edition of Chicago Lawyer, a monthly law publication.

The survey (which took months to get into print) proves what this newspaper and others have found when making FOI requests — FOI is a joke on the public.

The publication made FOI requests for death penalty information from the 102 state's attorneys' offices and from 74 other public agencies. The Chicago Lawyer asked what criteria a state's attorney uses in deciding to seek or not seek the death penalty.

Results: 11 state's attorneys ignored the request and six were sarcastic or abusive in denying it.

From this area, former Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber was among those ignoring the request. St. Clair County State's Attorney John Barcicewicz answered, but said his office had no written guidelines because his office judges cases individually.

The 74 other agencies were equally lax in responding.

And why's that? The FOI law lacks penalties, for one thing.

Two enter mother-daughter pageant

MADISON — Connie and Angie Grupus are looking forward to Thanksgiving.

Connie has been Angie's coach at beauty pageants in the past. This Thanksgiving, Angie will be coaching Connie at the national Mother-Daughter Pageant in Fort Lauderdale.

The Madison couple will be among a nationwide field of 25 finalists competing for the title of Mother-Daughter 1986 and a portion of over $50,000 in prizes.

Among the prizes are a 1986 automobile and a new boat and trailer.

Angie, 21, has been in more than 10 pageants. Her first experience with them came in 1970 when she placed sixth in the Miss La Petite national finals in Dallas, Texas. She was 6 years old.

Connie was her coach.

This time things will be different. Angie will be coaching Connie in her first pageant appearance.

"She has me trimming up," Connie said. "I've never paraded around in a bathing suit. I don't know how I'll handle that. We'll be judged as a couple. If we don't win, we won't know who to blame."

"We'll blame the judges," Angie said. "It'll be interesting to coach Mom."

The pageant will be Nov. 25, Dec. 7 at the beachfront Diplomat Hotel. The pageant will be aired on KPLR-TV, Channel 11, some time in January.

Angie found out about the pageant when she tried to interview the reigning mother-daughter winners for her community access cable TV show, "Getting to Know You," aired

ANGIE AND CONNIE GRUPUS

Tuesday and Thursday on Channel 10.

She contacted the national advertising firm that handles public relations for the pageant to arrange the interview.

Grupus never got the 1985 winners for her show, but the woman she contacted asked her to prepare an application for the 1987 pageant.

When the firm received the packet it called back and informed Angie an opening in this year's event was created when one family declined its invitation.

"The husband was transferred somewhere in South America," Connie said.

The pageant pays for accommodations and $440 worth of food and refreshments during the 12-day pageant.

"It sounded like a nice vacation," Connie said.

"I wanted to take a break," Angie said. She graduated from St. Louis University in May 1985 after three years. During that time she worked and sang in a rock band that played on the Laclede's Landing circuit.

She began pursuing a master's degree in speech communication at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville shortly after graduation.

Angie takes a middle road when asked about pageants and their social value. She said she doesn't like seeing younger girls pressured by their parents to do well in pageants. She doesn't think they lead to jobs in television or modeling.

She doesn't think pageants are "meat markets," either.

"Bars are meat markets," Angie said. "I gave up the band because people stereotyped me as being wild."

"My advice is not to get involved with pageants if you're a poor loser," she said. "Personal beauty and the way you dress are subjective. All judges look at things differently."

"I'm just in it to have fun," Angie said.

MESD may self-insure

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Self-insuring for general liability insurance may be a good idea, an insurance broker told the Metro-East Sanitary District Board Thursday.

MESD's liability insurance expired in September and the district is uninsured against general liability claims.

General liability insurance would cost the sanitary district more than $60,000, Edward English Jr., insurance broker at Charles L. Crane Agency Co. in St. Louis, told the board. The premium cost is based on the district's payroll, he said.

"IF IT'S BASED ON the payroll, then the thing to do is to cut back on the payroll. But how are you going to do that?" MESD Executive Director Shang Greathouse asked.

"I don't want to sit here and be uninsured. But then again, I'm not going to sit here and give $50,000 away," he said.

"I can't argue with you," English said. "With your past record, you'd be better off self-insuring."

THE DISTRICT'S past records show few general liability claims filed against the district. The largest claim English could find was for $30,000.

Should the district self-insure and be faced with a large claim, the sanitary district could raise the liability tax levy to cover it, board member Russ Robinson said.

Tax sale complicated by office relocation

When the Madison County Board decided early this year to move the treasurer's office from the courthouse to the old Bank of Edwardsville building, County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus was not pleased.

The move, he said, would be a great inconvenience to his employees and to taxpayers, who would have to run back and forth between the treasurer's office and the county clerk's and auditor's offices.

THE RELOCATION, he said last week, is about to present a larger problem: how to conduct the annual sale of properties for taxes, scheduled for Dec. 16.

The sale of properties for delinquent taxes must take place at the courthouse, Henkhaus said, but individuals will be paying taxes at the treasurer's office right up to the moment properties are sold.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said that, technically, once a final court judgment is made against homeowners who have not paid taxes, the property can be legally sold. However, traditionally, the county clerk's office has to pay the taxes.

THE FINAL judgment docket is set for Dec. 13.

Therefore, people may be paying taxes at the treasurer's office while their property is being sold at the courthouse.

This could mean a tremendous number of sales in error, which, Bowles said, require extensive paperwork for her office and Henkhaus.

And, as it happens, there will be a lot of properties up for sale this year. Henkhaus said his office recently sent out more than 8,500 delinquent notices.

A NUMBER of options for conducting the sale were discussed at the County Board's tax cycle committee meeting last week. Among those were having runners go back and forth between the two buildings with lists of who has paid taxes and which properties are being sold, and using walkie-talkie radios.

Bowles said the sale at the courthouse might be conducted in the grand jury room in the basement. She said she thinks the lobby of the courthouse would be too drafty.

She said she and Henkhaus will try to resolve the logistical problems of the sale, or resign themselves to a large number of sales in error.

HENKHAUS also informed the committee that his office has distributed to taxing districts more than 85 percent of the $85,448,000 in real estate property taxes collected throughout the county this year.

Residents of Collinsville have been charged almost $19,000 in penalties for paying taxes after installment deadlines. That is the highest figure of all 24 townships in the county, Henkhaus said.

Edgar seek road testing

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has just invited school districts in Illinois to participate in a new driver education program which would eliminate duplicate road tests for above-average students.

Students who do well on a high school behind-the-wheel test would not have to take a second road test at a driver examining station.

"Under no circumstances will any teenager get a driver license without passing a certified road test," Edgar said.

"IF A STUDENT has passed a high school's certified road test and classroom instruction with a grade of A or B, it is unnecessary application to require a second road test for that student."

To qualify for the program, high schools would have to submit drive test plans for certification by the secretary of state. The tests would have to contain elements identical to the state exam to be eligible for certification.

'All sports day' meal at school

GRANITE CITY — The High School cafeteria will be the scene of an "All Sports Day" event Thursday, Dec. 5, honoring students who participate in sports throughout the year.

Students are to wear their favorite Warrior sport jerseys; cooks will also join in by wearing sport jerseys on this day.

The menu will feature build-your-own taco salad in a special tortilla bowl. Other Mexican foods also will be served.

Other special days are planned at the high school.

They're already planning for next Halloween

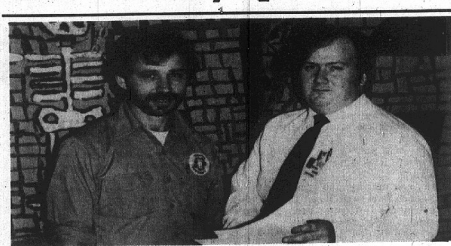

While most people are starting to plan their Thanksgiving and Christmas festivities, Bob Kitchell and Dave Agers, employees of St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, are already scheming for next Halloween.

They have to. Their neighbors and friends will soon be asking how they plan to top this year's "space station and remote to outerspace" which entertained the children who came Halloween night to have their bags of candy X-rayed at St. Elizabeth.

Although the hospital has had its candy X-ray program in operation for five years, there was no plan for keeping the children quiet and content while they waited, until three years ago.

That is when Kitchell, an SEMC security department employee, was planning his own evening of tricks and treats. Thinking he would dress up and go partying at one of his favorite night spots, he ended up stopping by the medical center to help with the candy X-ray program.

"I had no idea what I would do," he said of that first opening night. "I came in and started telling the kids lousy jokes and they laughed anyway. Right then I was hooked.

"The next year, three months before Halloween, people started asking me if I was going to dress up and entertain the kids again. I said, 'Sure,' and from then on, it's been my baby."

Last year, Kitchell and his recent recruit, Agers, turned Pascal Hall into a laboratory, complete with spider webs, smoking dragon and a flame thrower. The two dressed as the Great Fudini and his assistant, Ignor.

This year, some of the same props were used, along with an abundance of tinsel, glitter and foil to form Spaceship Disco, with the alien space commander, Captain Remo, and one of the Flunknauts, Pluto, in charge. The two also were assisted by Kitchell's father, Bob, an SEMC maintenance worker, and Mary Wingerter, a staff member in the volunteer services department.

Creativity is the key to the annual production and both say they begin looking for next year's props the day after Halloween.

Special effects were the key to this year's success, with lights and sound equipment borrowed from a host of friends and co-workers.

A camera hook-up enabled the trick-or-treaters to talk with inhabitants of other planets and ask them how Halloween was observed "out there."

A beaming chamber, reminiscent of Star Trek journeys, "beamed" the commander and his able assistant between rooms, so that the children never saw them use the door.

All planning and assembling of the evening's festivities, which usually takes Kitchell and Agers 50 hours or so, is done on their own time. In addition, there are the decorations and costumes, which often cost them $150 to $200 out of their own pockets.

What drives them to such madness?

"We're both hams," said Kitchell. "I always wanted to be an actor. And I'm crazy anyway. This gives me an excuse and lets me free to do whatever I want."

But the heart of the reason is that they both love children. Kitchell, though single, is a member of the Mayville PTA board and Agers is the father of a five-year-old daughter.

"I see the kids enjoying it and when they do, I enjoy it, too," Kitchell said.

"The kids' response is one of amazement when they walk in," he added. "And when they get too close to our special effects, we hit the tanks of carbon dioxide used for the smoke from rocket engines or a dragon's mouth, and they back off real fast."

Each year the crowd seems to get bigger and the plans more elaborate. The first year, 400 kids came. Last year, more than 600 children appeared. This year, at least 300 little goblins who weren't scared off by the rain attended.

The two masterminds of the event love delighting — and scaring — their visitors. Agers said that last year he scared his own little daughter.

"Even though she knew who I was, she still would not come to me," he said.

Commodities distribution this week

Officials in Venice Township and the Salvation Army have announced they will give out surplus government commodities this week.

Commodities will include processed cheese, rice, butter, dry milk and flour.

THE RICE, DRY MILK and flour are all in short supply and persons will be asked to take their choice of one.

All products will be given out on a first-come, first-served basis by ticket number received the day before.

To be eligible to receive commodities, persons must be residents of the township where they are getting the cheese.

THEY MUST BE the head of a household or the spouse, have their Social Security number, and sign an affidavit that their total household income is within the guidelines.

Recipients are to bring some proof of residency other than a driver's license.

An unpaid utility bill or a voter's registration card is adequate, officials said.

MONTHLY INCOME guidelines are as follows: one-person family, $547; two in the family, $735; three persons, $923; four persons, $1,110; five persons, $1,300; six persons, $1,485; seven persons, $1,673; eight persons, $1,860; and $1,818 for each additional member of the household.

Venice Township will give out commodities at a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27, at Englewood Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue, Madison. Township officials note there will be no discrimination on the basis of race, sex, creed or national origin.

The Salvation Army, 3007 E. 23rd St., will begin distribution of commodities to Granite City Township residents at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27. A representative said commodities will be distributed even if there is inclement weather.

2 governors to speak at forum

A Town Hall Forum honoring small businesses will feature the governors of Missouri and Illinois on Tuesday, Nov. 26, at the Omni International Hotel in Union Station.

Gov. John D. Ashcroft of Missouri and Gov. James R. Thompson of Illinois will speak at the forum sponsored by the Small Business Council of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association. A reception is planned at 11:15 a.m. and the luncheon will start at noon.

Tickets are $20 each and tables of 10 are available for $200 at 1-314-231-5553.

Ashcroft was inaugurated Jan. 14 as the 48th Missouri governor. He is 43, married and the father of three children.

A graduate of Yale University and the University of Chicago Law School, he practiced law in Springfield, Mo., and taught at Southwest Missouri State University. He was appointed state auditor in 1972 and assistant attorney general in 1975 and was elected attorney general in 1976. During two terms as attorney general, Ashcroft launched major initiatives regarding the state's natural environment, competitive business climate and educational system.

Thompson is serving his third term as governor of Illinois. He is 49, married and the father of one child. Following his undergraduate training at the University of Illinois, Navy Pier, Chicago, and Washington University, St. Louis, he entered Northwestern University Law School, Chicago, where he was awarded his law degree in 1959.

Thompson was elected governor in 1978 to a unique two-year term and then won re-election in 1978 and 1982. His accomplishments include a $2.3 billion "Build Illinois" public works program that includes several projects in Southwest Illinois. He has pledged to work on East St. Louis riverfront development.

Area residents rushing to set up their outdoor Christmas displays for the Journal, Electrical Board lighting contest, should keep safety in mind.

Area electrical specialists say when it comes to outdoor Christmas lighting, reading instructions, common sense and taking the necessary precautions are the keys to a beautiful and safe display.

Throughout the area some 40 displays will be selected for special recognition in the Journals Christmas Outdoor Lighting Contest. To enter, residents need only clip the coupon on this page, fill it out and mail it in.

A minimum $5 donation-entry fee to the Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign is required. Checks should be made payable to the Salvation Army.

Care in erecting a display should begin with the string of lights itself. Ray Eisele, assistant service manager for Granite City Electric's St. Louis office, said used cords should be inspected for wear or cracking. If these problems are present, it is safer to throw them away. New lights aren't that expensive — especially compared to the possible risk involved.

Eisele stressed the importance of reading all the directions on a box before setting the strings out. Instructions carry important information on strand overload and blowing fuses. It also isn't wise, he said, to use indoor lighting outside.

Don Oehlert, superintendent of Granite City Electric's Granite City operation, said inspection of extension cords is also important. "Don't use an inside extension cord," he said. Cheap, flat indoor extensions are very susceptible to problems in this kind of situation, he said.

The outside cords with a UL (Underwriters' Laboratories) on them signify testing for a bigger electrical load, and are thus, safer. The cords are also numbered.

The lower the cord number, the higher amount of voltage a cord will carry.

"At 115 volts, you can put 1035 watts on a number 16 cord," Eisele said. "I'd really prefer (people) use a number 14 cord." It can handle over 1200 watts. Oehlert said a 14 is probably the lowest number anyone would have to use.

Both men recommended using several different outlets for displays, preferably an isolated outside circuit. GFCI (Grounded Fault Circuit Interrupter) outside receptacles are safest, because they measure current and shut off if there's any leakage. GFCI receptacles are required in the new homes.

The lights shouldn't be set up in wet weather, (rain or snow), due to the possibility of a short circuit. Eisele also recommended the connections be wrapped in a plastic bag or tape to keep moisture out.

Moisture can be such a problem that he recommended to position the Christmas lights toward the ground so that it would be harder for water to collect and harm the system.

If you blow a fuse, don't just replace it. Check the load on the circuit. The instructions on the box usually tell what is an adequate load. An overload will cause the fuse to blow.

When it comes to setting up, Oehlert recommended shutting off the whole circuit while under use. Only then would someone be totally safe from the various hazards of electricity. He noted that necessities like aluminum ladders are excellent conductors and are dangerous when working with a 'live' circuit.

Homeowners should also be careful to keep their Christmas lights away from flammable surfaces. Lights on plastic shutters could melt the shutters, while sharp metal edges could short out the system.

Oehlert pointed out that any metal, such as downspouts, could become excellent electrical conductors. Stay on the wood of the house, such as the eaves when setting up.

Finally, once the lights are in place, periodically check the wires, if they are unnecessarily close to a definite problem that must be checked out.

Oehlert said a short in the wrong place could easily set off a fire. Strings of lights in bushes and trees, and on wood and straw decorations require extra caution.

Regardless of the care taken, temporary lighting displays always pose some risk.

When going to bed, or leaving the house, Oehlert said that he would turn off any lighting that was connected to an inside circuit.

During a contest like this one, he said, people will use every available outlet — inside and out. He said there were too many possible problems with untended electrical cords and wires to risk keeping them on all night.

The best way to have fun during the current outdoor lighting contest, is to make sure your entry is as electrically safe as possible.

Local Girl Scouting adults attend national conference

Marjory M. Nelson and Donna J. Lowry of River Bluffs Girl Scout Council were among 700 Girl Scouting adults from across the nation at the 1985 national meeting of Girl Scout Council presidents and executive directors, held in Louisville, Ky. The meeting brought together the top volunteers and paid executives from each of the country's 336 Girl Scout councils. Participants shared management ideas and discussed future projects.

Nelson and Lowry attended seminars on managing change and financing councils. The goal is to improve service to girls and their families.

Girl Scout National President Betty F. Pilsbury encouraged full exchange of ideas, saying, "We seek insight into what defines and what motivates effective leadership." Speakers included Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloane; Regina Herzlinger, Harvard Business School professor; Dr. Andrew Cole, director of the Institute of Child Development, University of Minnesota; and Sarah Weddington, a lawyer and authority on women's issues.

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is the world's largest voluntary organization for girls. Headquarters are in New York City.

A REMINDER FROM THE LAW TODAY

Last year, the Virginia state medical board forced an obstetrician to give up his license after an investigation showed gross negligence and incompetence for two decades. In one instance, this doctor induced labor two weeks early, because he wanted to go on vacation, then smashed the baby's head when he tried to pull it from the womb with forceps. As a result, the child was seriously deformed.

While this doctor's performance history may be unusually bad, the case illustrates the need for a more effective disciplinary system in the medical profession. The work of an incompetent doctor can bring about tragic results. In the absence of a strong disciplinary system for doctors, the only protection the public has lies in its right to bring suit against those doctors whose negligence has injured them. Now, because of intense pressure from medical lobbyists, the right to sue and recover damages against doctors has been limited in many states. In those states, which include Illinois, it may well become almost impossible to know if the doctor you have chosen is competent, or to recover damages for the injuries caused to you if he is not.

We will be discussing this and other topics on Tuesday night's program.

Expenditures by the Veterans Administration in Illinois totaled more than $447 million during fiscal year 1984, placing the state among the top 10 in the nation. Madison County VA spending totaled $15,370,739.

The county total consisted of $11,689,862 compensation and pensions, $2,026,623 readjustment and vocational rehabilitation and $1,654,254 insurance and indemnities.

About $390 million went toward disability compensation and pension checks to veterans, their dependents and survivors, and nearly $46 million provided for GI Bill educational and vocational rehabilitation programs for Illinois veterans, he said.

The remainder was spent for GI insurance and indemnities ($60.4 million) and construction and related costs ($13 million).

An estimated 1,319,000 veterans live in Illinois. The VA has medical centers at Hines, North Chicago, Chicago Lakeside, Chicago West Side, Danville and Marion. Other

Madison man charged with battery to child

MADISON — A 21-year-old Madison man has been charged in connection with battery of a 3-year-old Madison boy.

Dana D. Wright of 211 Ewing Ave. was charged Thursday, Nov. 21, with aggravated battery to a child and is being held on $100,000 bond at the Madison County Jail.

He was picked up by Venice police in the 500 block of Mercedia Street on Nov. 19 and was turned over to the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation.

DCI agents were assisting the Madison Police Department in the case.

The charge stems from on Oct. 16 incident in which the victim was found to have bruises on his body, Madison Police Chief William Papa said.

The boy was treated and then released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Driver alleges attack by strikers

A disturbance between striking union members at Precast Metals and an independent truck driver resulted in injuries to the driver and his wife.

Ron Row, of Bradenton, Fla., told police he was leaving the drive at the metal plant when 10 employees started throwing rocks and metal objects at his tractor-trailer.

One of the men, who was using a slingshot to propel objects at the truck, shot something that shattered the windshield, Row said.

Glass was sprayed on Row and his wife, he said, causing minor injuries.

When police went to the scene, strikers said they were unaware of any disturbance with the truck driver.

TV THEFT AT TRUCK STOP

Kenneth Jones of Halifax, Texas, reported Nov. 16 he was in the restaurant at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza and saw a woman enter his truck and then leave in a red Cadillac auto with Texas license plates. A portable television set was missing. Madison police believe the car is the same one that was involved in an accident on the Gateway parking lot.

Two 12 gauge shotguns, a 30-30 caliber rifle, a 19-inch color television set, a video cassette recorder and three VCR tapes were taken in a burglary at the home of Jim Farmer, 2308 Hodges Ave., Nov. 15.

CB RADIO STOLEN

A citizen band radio and a cooler valued at $150 were taken from a truck owned by MDC Trucking of New Jersey. It was reported by the driver, Joseph Wyatt, of Dundee, Ohio, Nov. 18. He had parked the truck in the 1400 block of Fourth Street. The burglar broke a window of the vehicle.

DRIVER HURT IN CRASH

Alyce L. Neuman, 51, of 2456 Sheridan Ave. was injured Nov. 21 when her car was involved in a collision with a van. The driver of the northbound van, Linda M. Harms, 1704 Edison Ave. was not injured. The Neuman auto was crossing Madison Avenue from 26th Street.

Thomas Delwiche of Casco, Wis., a driver for Schneider Transport of Green Bay, Wis., was asleep in his truck at 1:25 a.m. Nov. 18 when he was awakened by a noise at the back of the trailer and saw a person jump out of the trailer and enter a station wagon that had been backed up to the doors of the truck. A lock had been pried off the truck, which was loaded with various cuts of meat.

Armed man takes cash from store

A man armed with a revolver robbed Earl's Sporting Goods Store at 3675 Nameoki Road Nov. 21 and took an undetermined amount of cash. Beth Dittman, an employee, noticed the man because he was wearing a woman's wig. When he got close to the counter, she saw he had a gun. She said the gun frightened her and she jumped.

The man told her not to run and to open the cash register. He asked for the $20, $10 and $5 bills.

After cleaning out the register, he sent Dittman into the back of the store with another employee, who was unaware of the robbery.

The man was about 50, six feet tall, and had a thick build. His clothing included a green nylon jacket.

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

THE SISTERHOOD of Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church celebrated the 56th anniversary of the organization at a banquet last week in the church hall.

Thanksgiving decor was used for the tables and the welcoming address was given by President Evelyn Thompson. Virgie Settles offered the table prayer.

A sing-along followed the dinner, with Mina Duggins at the piano.

For the occasion, Evelyn Hamilton baked a tiered cake and served the dessert course to 40 members and guests.

GORDON JENSEN, a singer-songwriter from Nashville, Tenn., will be in concert Sunday, Dec. 1, at the 10:30 a.m. service of Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 3400 Maryville Road.

A Canadian native, Jensen was reared in a devout Christian home and was performing in public at age 12. At 16, he joined a touring group known as The Orrells.

This 10-year affiliation provided a forum for his songwriting and spanned several recordings for both Heartwarming and Zondervan records. His songs have been recorded over 2,000 times and have been translated into 15 languages.

Jensen and his wife, Marsha, live in Nashville with their four children.

THE FRIENDLY CIRCLE CLASS of Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church met in the home of Emma Elmore for a noon luncheon and afternoon meeting last week.

Members presented cards and a plant to Elsie Byrd, who underwent major surgery recently. After discussing the annual yule party, the group agreed to meet in the home of Evelyn Hamilton for the holiday social.

Others present were Virgie Settles, Lucy Testerman, Lora Hancock, Madara Shaw, Tennie Webb, Mayme Waggoner, Fern San Soucie and Mary Davis.

Q. How do I make payments into an IRA account? Is a lump sum required, or can monthly payments be made? Also, when do these contributions have to be made in order to take advantage of the tax deduction?

A. Your payments to an Individual Retirement Account may be made as best suits you. They can be made monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually — which, of course, would be a lump-sum payment up to the legal limit. An IRA may be opened and contributions made into the account up to the time you file your tax return, including any extensions you may request and be granted in filing your return. Those contributions may be deducted from your taxes for the preceding year. The limits we mentioned above, of course, have been changed to 100 percent of your annual income, up to $2,000 or $2,250 if you have a non-working spouse. Working couples may open individual IRAs with contributions based on individual incomes, each setting aside the maximum contribution of $2,000 per year.

Thanksgiving set at St. John's

A special Thanksgiving Eve service will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. at St. John Lutheran Church, 2001 St. Clair Ave., highlighted by a Eucharistic celebration.

The pastor, the Rev. Samuel Boda, will deliver the festive message. Mrs. June Barton of St. Louis will serve as organist and accompany the church choir.

The congregation now is gathering foods for 15 to 20 Christmas baskets for distribution in mid-December to the needy of this area. Most names will be secured from the Salvation Army, Rev. Boda said.

Church members will observe World Hunger Sunday on Dec. 1, the first Sunday of the Advent season and of the new church year, the pastor added.

Thanksgiving service at New Salem Baptist

A special religious service is planned for Thanksgiving morning at New Salem Baptist Church, 1347 Klein St., Venice, according to the Rev. John H. Williams, pastor.

The service will begin at 9 a.m. with the Rev. William Wise of the Southern Baptist Church in Madison delivering the sermon.

Other churches participating in the program will be Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, Mount Nebo Baptist, Friendship Baptist and Southern Baptist. There will be special gospel music by the choirs.

Parkview students entertains parents

Two classes at Parkview School entertained parents and teachers at the November PTA meeting. Mrs. Linda McDonnell's second grade students each wrote an article for a special Thanksgiving edition of their class newspaper.

Mrs. McDonnell explained the newspaper project and then about 10 of her students read their articles. Sample newspapers containing all the articles were shared with the parents.

John Svoboda's fifth grade students read Thanksgiving and fall poems. Students participating were Regan Hildebrand, Tresa Shierling, Chris Hall, Chris Glasgow, Michelle French, Donald Haddix, Bobby Wiggins, Merri O'Brian and Tara Wyatt. Gary Morgan, chairman of the vocational department, gave a slide presentation and explained various programs and achievements in the Granite City schools. • Turkey talk

The pilgrims came to America on the Mayflower. And you spend time with your families. You show you care for Thanksgiving by showing your love to the family. You show your thanks to your family.

By: Matt Little

PROHARDT SCHOOL

I like Thanksgiving because the turkey tastes good and it smells good. I like it. But what is Thanksgiving really about?

By: Brian Woods

Thanksgiving is a big feast that pilgrims had. It lasted three days. They played games and wrestled and they told stories. For the feast they had turkey, potatoes, corn and cranberries. I am thankful for our food and the Pilgrims.

By: Shaun Phillips

Thanksgiving means to eat turkeys. It makes me think of the Pilgrims when they came to Plymouth. It makes me think of Pilgrims that died. It makes me think of Pilgrim kids.

By: Justin D. Krull

We all celebrate Thanksgiving because it is a holiday. We are all thankful for the Indians because they found our country. The Pilgrims came on the Mayflower. The Mayflower is a big boat that sailed across the sea. They ate stale biscuits and stale water. Some of them died on their way here.

By: Jason Wood

Fun, games, food, a chance to see around them too. A time to celebrate that we have this wonderful country. A time to celebrate that we have a home. A time to pray to the lord that the Pilgrims made it and that the Indians were there to help the pilgrims.

By: Dana Anderson

PRATHER SCHOOL

Thanksgiving means to me I could spend time with my parents and spend time with my friends. And do lots of stuff and enjoy my life. And see lots of beautiful things and eat lots of turkey and some pie. What I really like to do is spend time with my parents. By: By

By: Kelly Palmer

Thanksgiving is a fun thing to do when it comes. It is fun when I get to help stuff the turkey. I even get to help carry it to our car. I like when it's done and we eat it. It means schools out. If I do not get to help I watch. I celebrate Thanksgiving in the morning and sometimes at night.

By: Keith Melton

Thanksgiving means to take time out to talk about the future and the family. It is also to eat and laugh and visit.

By: Jon May

I like Thanksgiving because it means a lot to me. It reminds me of giving and sharing with other people. I hope you share with other people too! Some people are rich and some are poor. So please give on Thanksgiving.

By: Tamie Cottrell

On Thanksgiving my family eats corn, cranberry sauce and either turkey or ham. This year I think we are going to have turkey for Thanksgiving. My dogs will have a big supper because everything that we don't eat we give to the dogs (there are four of them). If we have turkey for Christmas we will have ham for Thanksgiving.

By: Allen Robison

WILSON SCHOOL

Thanksgiving is a time for giving thanks. All of us should be thankful for something. I am thankful for food, clothing, moms, dads, and other people that take care of us.

By: Michael Pulley

It is a day of giving thanks. The Pilgrims and Indians were the first ones to celebrate Thanksgiving with a large dinner. They gave thanks for good food and friends to share it with. We do the same thing every year. We have lots of turkey, dressing and red stuff.

By: Nicole Adair

It is a holiday and a fine turkey day when children can dress up nice and when you eat. You can go outside and play and visit your grandma and eat there, too. You can talk to her and tell her things.

Scott Joplin 'Entertainer' features in variety series by Joshua Rifkin

Music of ragtime Scott Joplin, including the popular "The Entertainer," featured in the movie "The Sting," will be performed by Joshua Rifkin in one performance during the Choice of the Variety Series at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 2, at Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand Blvd. at Grand Center, St. Louis. In the early 1970s, Rifkin reawakened the world to the music of Scott Joplin. In best-selling recordings and sold-out concerts throughout the U.S. and Great Britain, Rifkin brought audiences the charm of Joplin's rags in performances widely hailed as definitive. Rifkin, conductor and soloist, enjoys an international reputation as both performer and scholar. He has recorded music ranging from Joplin to Scott Joplin, and his studies of Renaissance and Baroque music have appeared in publications both here and in Europe. He has conducted and performed as soloist with several leading ensembles including the Scottish Chamber Orchestra and the English Chamber Orchestra, which he recently led.

Rifkin enjoys acclaim as an interpreter of Bach; his recording of the Mass in B Minor won England's Gramophone Award as best choral record of 1983. His performances of the Magnificat, oboe concertos and other works have won similar approval.

Tickets are $12 to $17 each. A discounted rate of 35 percent off the regular ticket price is available to groups of 20 or more. Persons may call 1-314-532-2500, extension 235, for group information or 1-314-584-1700 for regular or student ticket information.

'Little Shop of Horrors' opens at The Rep

"Little Shop of Horrors" by Howard Ashman and Alan Menken, starring a giant plant that sings, dances and consumes people, opens Nov. 29 on the Mainstage of The Repertory Theater of St. Louis and runs through Dec. 27. Preview performances at reduced ticket prices are scheduled for Nov. 27 and 28.

When "Little Shop of Horrors" opened at New York's WPA Theater in 1982, Variety described the musical as "a zany, fun-filled and thoroughly delightful bit of musical nonsense."

For the last three years, theatergoers have been enjoying the misadventures of Seymour, a bumbling, young botanist working in a failing Skid Row florist shop — who accidentally creates a peculiar plant, Audrey II. A cross between a Venus flytrap and Drusilla, Audrey II is so unusual looking it attracts attention and customers.

As business flourishes, the plant's health fails until Seymour accidentally cuts his finger and discovers that Audrey II thrives on human blood. The plant promises to return Seymour with the best life has to offer in return for more blood.

Unfortunately, the greedy, green horror continues to grow along with its demands to "feed me, feed me." In desperation, Seymour feeds Audrey II an evil dentist, his boss and finally his beloved but ditzy girlfriend after whom he named the plant.

"Little Shop" is based on Roger Corman's 1960 film of the same name, which included the appearance of a then unknown actor, Jack Nicholson.

Ashman, who wrote and directed the Off Broadway hit, first saw Corman's movie when he was a teenager. The talking plant made a lasting impression on Ashman, whose stage adaptation boasts what the New York Post hailed as an "inspired...score of '50s musical idioms, from rock 'n' roll rousers to slippery Latin rip-offs and goosy ballads suitable for dancing down the gym floor."

A hip Greek chorus of harmonizing street brats is a solid gold touch. And don't forget Audrey II, who grows from a cute greenhouse plant to fill the Rep's Mainstage.

M. Burke Walker, founding artistic director of The Empty Space in Seattle, Wash., directs "Little Shop of Horrors." Philip Hoffman is Seymour, and Barbara Passolt plays his girlfriend, Stan Rubin, who appeared in the 1984 national tour of "Little Shop," recreates the role he created in Los Angeles, the national tour and London's West End.

Rep company member Rocky Carroll, who appeared as Valerie in "Twelfth Night" earlier this season, manipulates Audrey II.

Rounding out the cast are Walter Hudson as Orin, Bernstein, Shlp, Luce and Everyone Else; Gayle Samuels as Crystal; Mary Yarbrough as Ronnette and Arline Williams as Chiffon.

The musicians are Byron Grant on piano, Diane Ceccarini on electronic keyboards, Steven Schenkel on guitar, Robert Lowe on bass and John Brophy on percussion.

Technical staff includes Marcia Milgrom Dodge, choreographer; Byron Grant, music director; Carolyn Ross, set and costume designer; Peter Sargent, lighting designer; and Glenn Dunn, stage manager.

Weekly performances run Tuesdays through Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m., with selected matinees on Sundays and Wednesdays at 2 p.m. The Nov. 29 opening performance begins at 8:30 p.m.

Post-performance discussions, which focus on audience questions directed to participating actors, will be held in the theater after the Dec. 5 and 12 matinee and after the Dec. 5 and 12 evening performances. The Thursday, Dec. 26, 8 p.m. performance will be interpreted for the hearing impaired.

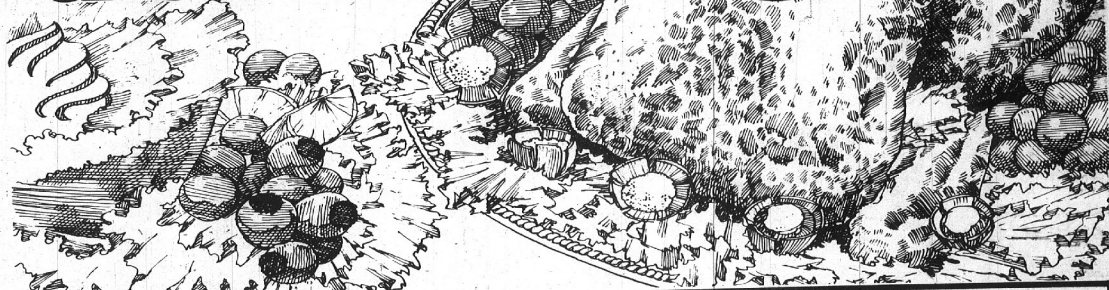

Discounts are available to groups of 15 or more and can be arranged by calling Tom Armstrong at 1-314-968-4288. For individual tickets ranging from $6 to $18, persons may call the box office at 1-314-968-4925.

Tilson to conduct orchestra

Michael Tilson Thomas will serve as guest conductor with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Saturday, Dec. 5 and 7, at Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand Boulevard at Grand Center, St. Louis.

Included on the program are Haydn's "Symphony No. 81" and Mahler's "Symphony No. 5."

Thomas has become one of the country's most active guest conductors of both symphonic and operatic repertoire. Recent appearances include performances with the Berlin Philharmonic, Vienna Symphony, San Francisco Symphony, New York City Opera and Houston Grand Opera, in addition to leading most of the Los Angeles Philharmonic's 1984-85 nationwide tour.

In the current season he will lead the Chicago, Pittsburgh, National and Dallas symphonies, as well as the Buffalo Philharmonic and Minnesota Orchestra.

Born in Los Angeles in 1944, Thomas studied at the University of Southern California while learning conducting with Ingolf Dahl. At age 19, he was named music director of the Young Musicians' Foundation Debut Orchestra. In 1967 he was appointed chief conductor at the Opal Festival, acting as director of the festival from 1972 to 1976.

Thomas' career was launched with the receipt of the Koussevitzky Prize as a conducting fellow at Tanglewood in 1968. This earned him a guest appearance with the Boston Philharmonic, where he was heard by William Steinberg, then music director of the Boston Symphony.

In the fall of 1969, Maestro Steinberg appointed him assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony. He was associate conductor in 1970.

During this association, Thomas introduced a number of new works to Boston audiences, in addition to leading the nationally televised New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts for eight years and making conducting debuts in London, Berlin, Vienna, Tel Aviv, Rome, Edinburgh, Milan, Helsinki and Tokyo.

Thomas served as music director of the Buffalo Philharmonic from 1971 to 1979 and completed four years as principal guest conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic in 1985. He currently is director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Institute. An exclusive CBS recording artist, Thomas has paid special attention to American composers. His "Gershwin Live!" recording with Sarah Vaughan and the Los Angeles Philharmonic won a 1983 Grammy award; a two-disc album of Carl Ruggles' music was named Record of the Year by Stereo Review and was nominated for two Grammy awards.

His latest Gershwin recording, including previously unpublished works, entered the best-seller charts within a month of release.

Tickets are $8 to $26 each. A discounted rate of 25 percent off is available to groups of 20 or more. Persons may call 1-314-533-2500, extension 293, for group information or 1-314-534-1700 for regular or student ticket information.

Zukerman to perform 'Concerto in D major'

Internationally-renowned virtuoso violinist and conductor of the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, Pinchas Zukerman, will perform Beethoven's "Concerto in D major for Violin and Orchestra" with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 29 and 30, and at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 1, at Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand at Grand Center, St. Louis. Leonard Slatkin will conduct the program.

Also included on the program are Mozart's "Serenade No. 6 in D major" and the world premiere of "Babi Yar" by British composer Steve Martland.

During the current season, Zukerman will be performing with the orchestras of Cincinnati, Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles and San Francisco and in coast-to-coast recitals. He also will perform recitals in Spain, Portugal, Germany and England as well as appear with the Israel Philharmonic.

Zukerman will perform the world premiere of Benjamin Lees' "Memorial Candles" with the Dallas Symphony and conduct the American premiere of the opera, "Where the Wild Things Are" by Oliver Knussen. He also will undertake a two-week tour through West Germany, Switzerland and Austria with the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra next spring.

Zukerman's recent projects include performing the violin and viola sonatas of Brahms in recitals throughout Europe and America with pianist Marc Neikrug. A three-part film of these Brahms sonatas, as well as a Schubert recital, was made in Lugano by Christopher Nupen.

Several recordings have been released on the Philips label featuring Zukerman as conductor and soloist with the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra. His latest recording on Philips with pianist Neikrug of the Franck and Saint-Saens violin sonatas will be released this year. A new recording of the Tchaikovsky Concerto with the New York Philharmonic has just been released on CBS Masterworks. His extensive catalogue of recordings for Angel, Deutsche Grammophon, RCA, Philips and CBS Masterworks has earned him 18 Grammy award nominations and two Grammy awards.

Born in Tel Aviv in 1948, Zukerman began his musical training with his father, first on the recorder, then the clarinet and finally the violin. At the age of 8, he began studying with Ilona Feher at the Israel Conservatory and the Academy of Music in Tel Aviv.

With the guidance of Isaac Stern and Pablo Casals, the support of the American-Israel Cultural Foundation and scholarships from Juilliard and the Helena Rubinstein Foundation, he came to America in 1962 to study with Ivan Galamian at The Juilliard School.

In 1967 he won first prize in the 25th Leventritt International Competition, which launched his career. He rose to prominence the following year when Isaac Stern became ill and Zukerman filled the master's concert engagements throughout Europe and America.

A series of television specials about the life and musical collaborations of Pinchas Zukerman entitled "Here to Make Music," directed by Christopher Nupen, aired on PBS for two consecutive seasons.

Martland, born in Liverpool in 1958, graduated from Liverpool University in 1981. In the same year, he won the Chandos Award at the Musica Nova in Glasgow for his composition, "Remembering Lennon." He was also awarded the 1983 Stockhausen for Composition and was a Composition Fellow at the Berkshire Music Center, Tanglewood.

Tickets for these performances are priced from $8 to $26 each. A discounted rate of 25 percent off the regular ticket price is available to groups of 20 or more. Persons may call 1-314-533-2500, extension 293, for group information or 1-314-534-1700 for regular or student ticket information.

A lecture on a topic relating to this program will be delivered by Joan Tower, composer-in-residence, St. Louis Symphony, and Steve Martland, composer of "Babi Yar," one hour prior to the start of each concert, in the left orchestra section of the concert hall.

Thompson seeks way to reduce rate

Gov. James R. Thompson proposed a four-point program in late November intended to stabilize and, in some areas, reduce electricity rates. It calls for surplus service to be sold in areas of the nation that need it.

The governor, in remarks at a special National Governors' Association (NGA) committee meeting in Washington that included state government officials, said some states have an abundant supply of electricity that is produced through nuclear plants, large reserves of coal or, as in Illinois, both resources.

To reduce the imbalance, the governor suggested that regions with large supplies of electricity be permitted to send surplus electricity to regions of the country that don't have the capacity to produce it.

"The electric utility industry is in the midst of a difficult transitional period. There is an imbalance in various regions and states when it comes to electrical energy supplies," Thompson said.

"What we need to establish is a regulatory policy which promotes the distribution of electricity from areas which have a surplus to areas which have a need for it. I propose we broaden national utility policies to ensure access to the wholesale electricity market."

Thompson presented a four-point plan that he said would gradually allow regions to engage in the "wheeling" of electricity service, a process by which a utility with excess capacity uses a third utility to send service to a utility that has a need for more electricity.

His plan calls for:

- Expanding the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (FERC) wholesale power deregulation experiment to the Midwest and Northeast regions of the U.S., a step that would allow FERC to better judge the effect of competition in the electricity industry and the adequacy of a wider-scale "wheeling" system. The FERC experiment currently is located in the Southwest.

- Reintroducing in Congress an NGA resolution adopted while Thompson was chairman of the group in 1982. The resolution calls for a formal change in the federal "wheeling" policy that would encourage interregional cooperation in utility planning.

"Beginning a FERC study that would investigate the adequacy of the nation's electricity transmission system. Several studies either began or were completed in the last six months, and Thompson said FERC should determine whether the system can accommodate expanded wholesale electric transactions.

"Delegating authority to states for regulation of interstate transactions, including power to order "wheeling" between utilities.

"If we do not relieve this pressure we will perpetuate inefficiency, inequity, rising prices and economic dislocation," the governor said. "The time has passed for tinkering. Solutions will be found in new ways of thinking about the electric utility industry and in fashioning regional and national strategies that capitalize on our regional strengths."

"A comprehensive national electricity transmission policy offers the potential to address interregional supply-demand imbalances in a way that produces real benefits for all parties and not just those who make the first deal."

Granite City BPW reviews style show

The Harvest Champagne Luncheon and Style Show, sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization and held at Charlie's Restaurant, attracted over 200 members and guests.

Becky Slate, president, led a discussion on the recent fund-raising project, noting the group has hosted a style show for the past 18 years.

Judy Stille from Tops 'N Bottoms Store served as coordinator for the merchants and Jeanne Hornerberg, a club member, was the commentator.

Highlight of the show was when Van Stuart, also a member, modeled a two-piece dress and black beaded cape that was 100 years old.

The gown was created for and owned by Mrs. Elmer McNary, who was born in Atlanta, Ind., June 21, 1865. Her parents were the owners and operators of a dry goods and general store and the material for the ensemble came from their stock.

Mrs. McNary died at age 71 in 1936 in Granite City. She was a member of the Methodist Church and the Ladies Coterie. The fashion is now owned by her daughter, Bessie McNary Coolidge, who was a guest at the show.

During the intermission Florence Moore and Annette Smith selected winners for the top prizes. Lorene Sadrakula received $50 and Beverly Partney received $25.

Participating stores included Inge's, Ruth's, Fabric Store, Hudson Bellemore, Walker's Jewelry, Michel's Jeweler, J. D. Hudson Jewelry, Old Mother Hubbard, Tops 'N Bottoms, Queen's Boutique, Gilk's and Gabriel's.

Hazel Kollins served as chairman for the event and was assisted by Linda Irwin, Helene Bischoff, Becky Slate, Dolores Allen, Eil Marzuli, Sylvia Wright, Van Stuart, Ruth Walk, Joy McCord, Pauline Weir and Rose Stern.

During a previous meeting it was announced the organization was one of the first to donate money toward a computer system installed at the Illinois State BPW office.

Becky Slate announced anyone becoming a new member after Nov. 1 will be required to pay only half-year dues.

A review of plans for a Christmas party Dec. 13 at Charlie's was given by Dolores Allen, chairman. She said the theme would be "Give, Take and Share" and an member is to bring canned food for Project Help and a $5 exchange gift.

Thrift edge for the Japanese

Meet Fujii Hisao, Japan's secret weapon in the international economic war.

Fujii-san, 35, is married, has two children and works in the personnel department of a major Japanese automobile manufacturer in Yokohama.

His annual earnings total 4.09 million yen — about $17,200. Of that he saves $2,520, about 16 percent of his after-tax income.

After 13 years at the same company, Fujii-san's penny-pinching has yielded $16,000, a big step toward the down payment on a house. It's all there in the bank, transferred electronically from the company paymaster to Fujii-san's bank account.

Meet Fujii Hisao, Mr. Average Japanese.

To the world's envy, Japanese workers save an average 17 percent of their after-tax income, one of the highest rates among the major industrialized countries.

That figure compares to a rate of about 5 percent to 6 percent — one of the lowest — for consumption-conscious Americans.

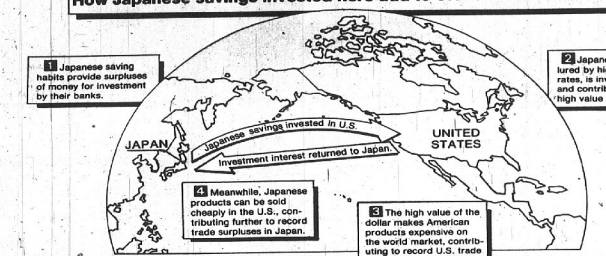

Economists from both sides of the Pacific have examined this disparity in savings behavior and say it has deep, interconnected implications for the economies of the two countries. They conclude:

Japanese saving was the locomotive that drove the country's post-World War II economic miracle, providing huge amounts of capital needed by Japan's rapidly expanding industrial base.

In recent times, with Japanese industrial growth slowing, that capital has been diverted to foreign countries. High interest rates in the United States, pushed upward by the federal government's $210 billion annual budget deficit, have drawn Japanese investments like a magnet.

Here, Japanese capital helps finance the budget deficit and industry investment.

How Japanese savings invested here add to U.S. trade imbalance

Household savings rates
Japanese families outpace Americans in the proportion of after-tax income they put into savings. Higher savings mean more money available for investment.

U.S. federal budget deficit
Many economists say the federal government's budget deficit is driving up U.S. interest rates.

Yields on long-term government bonds
Japanese investors can earn higher yields by investing in U.S. rather than Japanese government bonds.

Meanwhile, Japanese products can be sold cheaply in the U.S., contributing further to record trade surpluses in Japan.

The high value of the dollar makes American products expensive on the world market, contributing to record U.S. trade deficits.

Varsity upends JV cagers

By DAVE WHALEY

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — For a while, it appeared the lesser lights might outshine the headliners.

But in the end, Granite City High School's varsity basketball team scored a 68-56 win over the junior varsity in an intra-squad scrimmage Thursday night at the GCHS gym.

Head Coach Don Deterding scheduled the scrimmage to give fans a chance to see the team in action before the season opens this Friday at Mt. Vernon in the Turkey Classic.

Afterwards, Deterding said he didn't find out anything that surprised him too much.

"We had some of our guys who we're counting on a lot that didn't have very good performances," he said. "We've got a lot of work to do before the opener, but we've got a week yet."

On the other hand, some players responded with surprisingly good performances.

"I thought Steve Schatz and Kurt Luehman were outstanding for us tonight," Deterding said. "Luehman was really good inside. He hasn't been out in two years. He last played as a freshman, but he impressed everybody."

Luehman is a 6-4 senior. The junior varsity players, dressed in the home white uniforms, led throughout most of the game, although they never led by more than five points at any time.

The red varsity team finally took a 53-52 lead with 4:52 to play. The Jayvees were as close as 58-56 with three minutes left before the varsity scored the last 10 points of the night for the final 12-point margin.

"I think the effort tonight showed both me and the players that we have a way to go," Deterding said. "If we had to play tomorrow, I'd be concerned, but we don't."

The player who appears to be a team leader for the Warriors this year, senior point guard Joe Gray, did not play in the scrimmage.

Deterding said Gray was visiting the campus of Western Illinois University in Macomb, where the Leathernecks were recruiting him to play soccer.

"We'll be much better with Joe in there," the coach said. The Warriors will have to be tough to compete in the always-rugged Southwestern Conference, Deterding said the race in the SWC shouldn't even be close.

"Nobody should touch Alton," he said. "If they don't beat themselves, they should take it going away." The Redbirds are led by the area's top player, senior Larry Smith, who will be playing Big Ten basketball next season at the University of Illinois.

The Warriors' opener is Friday at 8 p.m. at Mt. Vernon against the host Rams. Action in the round-robin tournament continues Saturday when Granite City takes on Kankakee at 1:30 p.m. The Warriors will wrap up the tourney against Sesser (Valer) at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Previews of all three local high school basketball teams will appear in Thursday's Press-Record.

Levin
...record FG

Levin boots record FG

Brain Levin, a freshman place kicker at Peru State College in Nebraska, established a new school record booting a 52-yard field goal in a game against Doane College.

The record-breaking kick came with 3:30 left in the third quarter. The old mark was 49 yards set by Rex Freeburg in 1982.

Levin, an 1984 graduate of Granite City North, also kicked a 43-yard field goal and accounted for the team's six points in the 28-6 loss to Doane.

On the season, Levin hit 9-of-12 field goals (both marks are school records for attempts and conversions) and 16-of-18 extra point attempts.

Morgan

Morgan picked 'most improved'

Freshman Michelle Morgan of Granite City was recently voted the most improved player on the Peru State College (Nebraska) women's volleyball team.

Morgan, a setter, saw playing time in 28 of the Lady Bobcat's 45 matches this season. She was one of 13 players to receive a varsity letter for the 1985 season.

Catching up on some mail...

This column is to catch up with my mail and with some items I want to pass on to you folks who have been so kind as to write and call me in regards to my column, "Sports of all Sorts."

BILL KLEMM

Probably the one column which harvested the most calls was the one I wrote on Bill Klemm, the longtime football, basketball and track coach at St. Louis Christian Brothers High School who died earlier this year.

For all the Cadets who passed through the CBC classrooms, he was a United States version of Mister Chips. He was a stern and rigid teacher. I had the fortune to cover his football teams in bitterly-fought games, particularly with St. Louis University High and McBride and the rest of the rugged old Catholic League.

MAC HAD SOME HELP

I had heard this story before, but just recently was I able to verify it. Lawrence McCauley, the late principal at Granite City High School and former All-American lineman at the University of Missouri in the 1920's, was the coach of record for the 1948 baseball state champions.

But the man behind the scenes who really directed that great baseball aggregation was Willard "Butch" Portell, who has been 3rd Circuit clerk for Madison and Bond counties for many years.

Most members of that 1948 Granite City team were also members of the outstanding Sacred Heart Catholic Church team which was coached by Portell. Butch, who himself was a great baseball and softball player, was asked to help McCauley, who he did.

However, as the Warriors advanced to the finals at Peoria that spring,

Sports of all Sorts

By Al Barnes

the authorities were asked to remove Butch from the Granite City dugout. En route to the state finals, some opponents of Granite City had noticed Portell was on the bench and that he wasn't a teacher. So, going into the finals, he was barred from the bench.

DART'S POPULAR IN MADISON

The game of darts is very popular in Great Britain, where the various pubs have regular tournaments aimed at selecting a national champion. I've just found out there is a tavern in Madison where the game is going great guns. In a few weeks, I promise to bring my readers a more detailed story about the old and venerable game of darts.

TEXAS'S SILENT PRESS BOX

While watching the Chicago Bears maul the Dallas Cowboys the other day, 44-0, I was reminded of the press box at Texas Stadium.

In 1978, I was in the Lone Star State covering the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougar soccer team in games against Southern Methodist and North Texas State. Inbetween games, we were invited to attend a college game at the stadium.

Sitting there watching the game, I suddenly realized that something was unnatural. At that time, and I guess it still is, the press box was completely sealed off and not one whisper of the crowd can be heard. It's rather odd, believe you me.

BARTH IN CHARGE OF GAME

Gene Barth, a St. Louis businessman (he's an independent gasoline and oil station operator, was the referee in the Cowboys-Bears game. Barth played football, basketball and baseball for Beaumont (St. Louis) High School and was named to my All-District baseball team in the spring of 1948 as an outfielder.

MacMurray's Kindle sets mark

John Kindle, a graduate of Granite City High School, got his name in the record book playing football at MacMurray College.

Kindle, a sophomore fullback, logged 221 yards on just 37 carries this fall for MacMurray. In addition, his 76-yard touchdown run against Principia was the longest play from scrimmage in school's first varsity season.

MacMurray College, located in Jacksonville, finished the season with a 2-4 record.

Gold found to move all by itself

Do you think that noble metal, gold, can move by itself? Deposited in extremely thin layers and in very thin-film electrical contacts, gold actually migrates, in time, into nearby metals.

Researchers in Japan have developed a system of using a high-resolution microscope coupled with a tape recorder and revealed that gold atoms jump from place to place on a crystal surface, almost like live bacteria.
